President's Message

Conference Programme

MESSAGE FROM A.S.J. PRESIDENT

On behalf of the entire Council, it is with great pleasure that I extend a very warm welcome to fellow participants of the 60th Annual Clinical Symposium of the Association of Surgeons in Jamaica. For the past 60 years, the association has had a rich tradition of providing a forum for its members to exchange professional knowledge and establish friendship, and has definitely contributed to the progress and improvements in the surgical care of Jamaicans. The Symposium this year is eclectic and exciting, reflecting the diversity of our members, as despite the fact that some of our specialty areas have formed their own associations and hold conferences, the ASJ still represents the 'parent' association.

This year's symposium features a faculty of local and international experts, and is highlighted by the 30th annual Sir Harry Annamunthodo Memorial Lecture entitled 'HANNIBAL AD PORTAS' (Derek Mitchell) and the American College of Surgeons (Jamaica Chapter) lecture entitled 'INCREASING SURVIVAL FROM ACTIVE SHOOTER AND ALL CAUSES OF SEVERE HAEMORRHAGE' (Lenworth Jacobs).

I take this opportunity to wish all participants a very enjoyable and memorable time at this symposium as we keep abreast with developments in surgery, and as we partake in fellowship with new and old friends.

Please visit our website, <https://surgeonsja.org> where you will find further details on the conference and other activities of the association.

M Newnham
